This is the time of year when many of our lives shift into a different gear. As the school year winds down, students and teachers finish up their final projects and exams and look ahead toward rituals like proms and graduations. This is the time of year when we acknowledge and celebrate important people in our lives—Mother’s Day, Memorial Day, Father’s Day.

So, too, in the life of this congregation, as the “church” year winds down, we have rituals and celebrations. The Stewardship Committee wraps up the pledge drive, the Board and the Finance Committee put the finishing touches on the next year’s budget, the Leadership Development Committee puts forward a slate of officers in preparation of the Annual Meeting (May 31). In worship services, we acknowledge and celebrate the transitions of our youth—the Coming of Age youth (8th graders) move up into YRUU (Young Religious UUs), and the seniors are welcomed by the Young Adults—in our Bridging Service (May 17). And we celebrate our religious community in an annual Flower Communion—everyone bringing flowers to create a beautiful communal bouquet and taking another flower home symbolizing how we all contribute and benefit from coming together.

This is the time of year for transitions, for crossing thresholds. And yet, this year we find ourselves looking across the threshold into an unknown future. Many of the usual celebrations we’ve come to cherish won’t happen or will have to happen in very different ways. This month, as we consider what it means to be a people of Thresholds, we are challenged to create new ways of acknowledging and celebrating. While we cannot have new members sign the membership book, if you have found a spiritual home at UUC and want to formally join, contact Rev. Pam to “sign” virtually (by the 17th if you want to vote in the Annual Meeting). The youth of YRUU are hard at work planning an inspiring and engaging Bridging Service, using the new opportunities virtual worship affords. You won’t want to miss it. The Worship Team is likewise planning for our Flower Communion (May 31) and needs your help. Please email me photographs of you and your family with flowers by May 29. Together we’ll create a bouquet of smiles and beauty, symbolizing this compassionate community.

As we look across the threshold into the month of May, we are uncertain what the future holds. When and how we might gather together in physical spaces again remains a mystery. That’s the thing about crossing thresholds—we can never be certain what we’ll encounter on the other side. But we can choose what to bring with us as we venture forth. We can bring with us cherished traditions, transformed by the constraints and opportunities of our virtual gatherings. In this liminal time, between our past and our future, we can intentionally consider what to leave behind and what to take forward across the thresholds of our lives. Let us do so together.

In faith and hope,
Rev. Pam

Message from Our Board
Nancy Norton, Member-at-Large

Alone and Not Alone

I am one of many UUC members who live alone. The sanctuary of one’s own space is often a blessing. But it can become a burden when that space becomes one’s entire world. Community is one thing that need not be a victim of this time. One of the many things for which I feel daily gratitude is our UUC community. While technology fills my inbox with the latest tragic accounts of the world beyond my front door, it also extends the opportunity to grow closer to those I cherish. In March when the Board weighed the science and emerging news and made the very difficult decision to close down our building, it was impossible to imagine just how gloriously the bud of community would blossom in the coming weeks. As new bulbs, blossoms, and leaves heralded the coming of spring outdoors, the promise of community unfolded in our congregation. In those first weeks, my calendar consisted of canceled events and meetings except for that spot at 10:00 on Sunday morning. Rev. Pam and the Worship Committee responded immediately and brilliantly to the changes and challenges and held our first zUUm service (as my friend refers to it) the very next Sunday, March 15. And an unanticipated thing happened: people attended the service who had been unable to in the past, either because they were confined to their homes for reasons unrelated to the pandemic, or because they had moved away from the NRV after once being members of UUC, or they had never been in our physical presence and found a sacred space with us for the first time, a space created by the necessity of social distancing and the holy creativity of our spiritual guides. And, as blossoms give rise to fruit, this time has even given birth to a new opportunity: a Mid-Week Gathering on Wednesdays at 5:30 PM.

Our annual stewardship campaign also flowered in the weeks to follow. Members and friends opened their virtual wallets and put their pledges of financial support where their hearts already dwelled. And, as the Board and Finance Committee met together just two weeks ago to consider how to reconcile the difference between the projected 2020-21 UUC budget and the pledges in hand, the adjustments and decisions were made with hope in the continued generosity of a community that manifests caring by giving. Our 1/2-plate collections are going, as they always have, to organizations that do the work of caring in our larger community. As economic stimulus checks find their way into our bank accounts, I want to highlight a new opportunity announced by our Board President and President-elect: giving all or a portion of that check to UUC to shore up our financial security in these uncertain times. And I invite you to email Wayne Neu to join a discussion of creative ways to use all or a portion of those checks to further support those in need in our community.

After that first week, my calendar began to fill again, this time with virtual gatherings. Many of them allowed me to meet up with friends in the weekly Conversations on Our Faith discussion group, the twice-monthly Women’s Lunch, and the continuation of the Soul Matters gatherings. And we have now held our second virtual UUC Board meeting. Being an introvert, I’ve never been a coffee-hour person, but the breakout rooms following each service are just the right size to check in with old friends and make new ones. And in the coming week, I plan to “drop in” on some UUC gatherings I’ve never experienced before...because I CAN. And, as some of us find many items on our To Do lists given a “grace” period (grace being an especially salient concept at this time), we have an unprecedented opportunity to “attend” GA virtually, either as a registered participant or as a guest in those worship services made

Join our conversation on Sunday, May 24!

Bridging Conversations are a conversational bridge across issues that divide and separate us. They provide an easy structure for engaging in friendly yet meaningful conversation with those with whom we may not agree. These conversations increase understanding, reveal common ground, and sometimes even allow us to discuss possible solutions. Meeting virtually at this Zoom link.

Join us May 24 at 11:30 AM for our conversation on Freedom. Freedom is a key concept in America’s founding documents. We are proud to be a free people. This said, there are legitimate differing interpretations of what freedom means. “Live and let live” is great until the freedom to use my property as I see fit interferes with your property. Or when someone’s speech harms another person’s freedoms. Is it ever good for the government to limit an assembly of citizens? How do we celebrate our freedom and care for it so that it reflects our highest values? This conversation asks key questions and invites you to explore the many facets of freedom. Led by Rev. Jamie McReynolds.
Update on ½-Plate Donations

April Board Mtg. Highlights

- The Board gratefully accepted a monetary gift from Melanie Bussard.
- UUC submitted an application for a Payroll Protection Program loan through our local bank, the National Bank of Blacksburg, on April 7. The loan was approved the following week for $34,800 and must be used for payroll (75% of loan), mortgage interest, health insurance, and utilities over a 2 month period. If conditions are met, the loan will be forgiven (see page 9).
- A virtual book signing for new members will be held at the service on May 17.
- The informational meeting will be held via Zoom on May 17 and the annual meeting via Zoom on May 31 (see page 3 for more info).
- Jamie McReynolds, George Lally, Helen Renqvist, and Wayne Neu were approved as delegates to General Assembly.

The next Board meeting will be held via Zoom on Thursday, May 14 at 7 PM. The minutes and reports of meetings for the past two calendar years are available.

E-giving Via Text & Mobile App

In addition to our online giving option, we now have a mobile app (Give Plus+ in Google Play Store and Give+ in Apple Store) for easy donating. Simply download the free app, select UUC as the recipient and create an account (account not needed for one-time donation).

And....

We also offer off the very easy option of using Text to Give for your donation to UUC. Text “Fund” to 844-909-2617. You will be asked to fill in your information the first time the service is used. After that, when you text “Fund”, the list of funds will appear in the response. Simply enter the dollar amount you wish to donate (without a $), a space, and the fund you are donating to as written in the list texted back to you. If you receive a response asking you to text “repeat” or “refund”, do not reply unless you wish it to be a repeating donation.

Questions on any of these options? Email administrator@uucnrv.org.

This is a private group (only members can see who's in the group and what they post) but it is visible (anyone can find the group). Ask to join the group today!
THE BEES HAVE ARRIVED! Building the fenced-in area to house our new beehives was done in the past few weeks, and the “bee palace” was ready for occupants. Beekeeper, Richard Reid, delivered the 3 hives in late April. It was amazing to watch the honeybees from these hives slowly make their way out, hover in the hives’ opening and then gradually begin swarming to orient themselves to their new location.

Bees are crucial for our food supply since many of the foods we eat rely on pollination. The lifespan of the queen (each hive has a queen, sometimes 2 if the swarm is huge) is 3-5 years. The other bees in the hive have a lifespan of 3-4 weeks, and during that lifespan, they graduate to different jobs with the ultimate job being defending the entry of the hive from bee invaders. The bees work so hard during their short lifespan that the hairy stripes on their bodies “fade” due to the loss of hairs. Their wings also become tattered. Richard will be monitoring his loaned hives.

The fence around the hives has an electric wire at its top and bottom with a small solar panel providing the electricity. This is to protect the hives from bears, but the fence is also a deterrent for people failing to be respectful of our resident bees. Observing the behavior of the bees from a distance is fascinating. The hives are located in the Peacock Meadow and are accessible when walking on the Meditation Path.

All 13 new trees are in the ground and starting to leaf out. Thanks to the additional tree sponsors, Sharon Day and Dan Brown, and co-sponsor, Dale Norton, we have been able to get closure on digging holes for trees and hauling mulch to protect tree roots. The trees have been staked, and some landscaping elements added. Additionally, several congregants have generously donated plant divisions, and these have been transplanted to various spots around the grounds.

Over the years I’ve learned some gardening tips that are worth sharing:

1) Save eggshells, bake them in the oven till the edges are brown (baking sterilizes the shells.). When cooled, break the shells into tiny pieces and generously use the pieces around seedlings susceptible to slugs and cut worm.
2) My favorite slow-release fertilizer is Osmocote. The fertilizer gives plants a push in the spring. During the growing season, potted plants in particular need some extra nutrients to get through the summer unscathed. Osmocote is available at Walmart, Lowes, and Home Depot. It has a long shelf life, so if you anticipate using a lot, getting the 8 lb. bag is cheaper per ounce than smaller quantities.
3) Avoid using systemic pesticides (e.g. the 3-in-1 rose treatment). Two of the 3 chemicals make their way to the flowers and affect the health of bees gathering pollen.

Grounds Ministry has a wish list for the following:

♦ people who will do weekly watering of the outdoor potted plants on Mondays or Wednesdays (we can work with volunteers who also have travel plans)
♦ plastic pails (5-gallon pails are best, with or without lids; smaller pails are okay, too). Please leave pails on the side of the building where the gardening tools are stored.

We are thankful to the many people who volunteer for the work of maintaining and improving our grounds. Applause!!
Take a Hike

Seriously, a walk on the 5+ acres of UUC’s grounds is an ideal way to weather the “virus blues”. This being springtime, there are daily, visible changes in colors, smells and plant/tree growth making each day magical. Strategically located benches for rest and observation are waiting to be occupied. Walking the labyrinth brings a sense of contentment.

Member Di Ross had this to say about visiting UUC’s grounds for connection, exercise, and a spiritual uplift: “I recently moved from San Antonio back to Blacksburg and now live a block from the UUC campus. My daily walks almost always include strolling the beautiful church grounds which are made better every day due to rain, sun, and members’ work. Walking the labyrinth is a favorite (hats off to the EarthSpirit Sisters for this magical place). In the absence of church services, coffees, and choir rehearsals, I found this daily visit quickly reconnected me to our church community. I turned in my pledge, citing as my inspiration the UUC principles, people, minister, music and grounds. Thanks to all who have contributed to making these days so much better.”

Parent Bereavement via Zoom

We are a community-wide support group for bereaved parents and grandparents who have lost an adult or adolescent child. We come together once a month on 2nd Mondays from 6-7 PM to help one another on our journeys. The next meeting is on Monday, May 11. Join the group via Zoom. For more info and the Zoom link, contact Katherine or Lisa.

Caregivers via Zoom

UUC hosts a monthly support group for caregivers to share their experiences and challenges. The group meets on the 2nd Tuesdays of each month—next meeting May 12 at 7-8:30 PM. Join us via this Zoom link. Questions or concerns - contact Rev. Pam.

NAMI Mental Health Groups

Unfortunately, the NAMI (National Alliance on Mental Illness) NRV Support groups have not been able to gather in person during this time of physical distancing. However, they are working with the Richmond NAMI VA office to establish an online support group to serve our area. They hope to announce something later in May. Everyone is invited to visit the national NAMI website which has many good resources. NAMI VA and affiliate-sponsored online events are open to anyone in VA. Here is the current list which NAMI VA will continue to add to. NAMI’s national helpline is 800-950-NAMI. In a crisis, text "NAMI" to 741741.

Transgender Support

NRV Trans* Support is a peer-led organization whose mission is to offer support, resources, and social activities to all transgender and gender non-conforming individuals in the New River Valley in a safe, anonymous and affirming environment. To learn more about NRV Trans* Support, visit their website.

The Adult Group meets on the 2nd & 4th Thursdays of each month (May 14 & 28) via Zoom from 6:30-8 PM and welcomes all adults who identify under the trans umbrella or are questioning their gender. Contact nrvtrans@gmail.com for the Zoom link.
Worship Theme for May: Thresholds

Join us at 10 AM each Sunday at this Zoom link. Why not bookmark it?

May 3: Rev. Pam Philips, Living in the Liminal: We’ll begin our exploration of what it means to be a people of thresholds by considering what this time is teaching us about not moving past a threshold but staying in it.

May 10: Rev. Pam Philips, Personal Thresholds: Our limits are often not discovered until they are crossed. How might we use this time of enforced isolation to explore and define our boundaries—as individuals and in community?

May 17: Members of YRUU (Young Religious UUs), Crossing Life Thresholds: Each year, the youth of UUC lead a service to mark transitions—the Coming of Age youth move into YRUU and the high school seniors move into young adulthood. Come celebrate our youth!

Virtual Informational Meeting follows the service. Watch for more info.

May 24: Rev. Pam Philips with Rev. Mary Katherine Morn and Rev. Laura Randall via video, Crossing Thresholds for Justice: We’ll celebrate UUSC (Unitarian Universalist Service Committee) Sunday, learning about how our religious tradition works for justice and exploring ways we can continue that practice into the future.

May 31: Rev. Pam Philips, Blossoming Anew: This year, we’re re-imagining this quintessential UU ritual—the Flower Communion. Help co-create our new virtual ritual by emailing photographs of you and your family with flowers—all colors, shapes, and sizes—to celebrate our beloved UUC community.

Virtual Annual Meeting follows the service. Watch for more info.

Good Financial News from the Board

We are extremely delighted to share good news on two fronts. First, the Payroll Protection Program loan that we applied for has been approved. We have received $34,800 that we expect will be largely forgiven according to the provisions of this federal program. Second, our request for donations of money from your federal relief checks has produced a very generous response. To date we have received 12 donations that go beyond the amounts those kind folks had pledged with more likely to come in. While these events together do not fully cover the working capital we used this year and the budget shortfall for next year, we are now much better able to cover our current expenses. We continue to be grateful for the amazingly generous congregation that we have. You give us the confidence that, one way or another, we will always receive what we need.

Our Mission

Inspire spiritual and ethical growth. Create compassionate community. Transform our community and the world through courageous love.

Our Vision

UUC will be a beacon of liberal religion in the New River Valley. We will join with other organizations and faiths to work for just causes.

We will practice generosity and radical hospitality. We will be known as a place of beauty, welcome, joy, and celebration.
